

Broad Cove to Green Bay Walk

Getting There

From The 103 highway, exit at the Crousetown Road. Continue through to the end of this road at the stop sign. Turn right onto Route 331 to Broad Cove, about 6km. Turn left on Beach Road for a short distance (see map), then left again on Bear Trap Road. You will come to several fishing shacks by the harbour. You can park just past No 82, which is on the right side at the end of the breakwater.

The Walk

The trail is simple, just continue along Bear Trap Road. This is the old coastal road which is now closed to vehicles. Although the trail is basically level, much of the way the surface is loose or rocky. In some spots the shoreline has eroded so that the trail is now on the beach.

Since this is a simple linear route, you can turn around and return at any point. The canteen in Green Bay makes a convenient stop for refreshment!

The total distance to the canteen and back is almost 11km.

Please Note: The shoreline was considerably eroded by hurricane Juan and the map may not be accurate. In particular, there are a couple of places (Bear Trap Cove and Fence Pond Brook) where the trail will be under water at high tide.
